ABOUT THE INSTRUCTOR

Martha Silva is a native Spanish speaker with studies in Mexico. She has taught Spanish to both adults and children, with recent emphasis on customized programs for business markets. She holds a degree in Computer Information Systems, where early accomplishments included software and database development and management, as well as consultation for businesses targeting products to Latin American countries.

"I was very pleased with the structure of the class and the confidence I gained in using the language. In one class, I went from not knowing Spanish to understanding basic conversations, and communicating basic ideas and needs. During my two week trip to Panama, I was surprised how much I could participate. I am looking forward to the next level."
